FiberTech Polymers, LLC Launches New Website

Ontario, CA - FiberTech Polymers, LLC manufacturers of SmartEdge landscape edging and TimberWolf fiber-reinforced composite fencing has launched their new website.

“The internet is a great way to introduce our eco-friendly products to user and professionals” notes CEO, James Chilcoff. The website includes the advancement of FiberTech’s environmental initiatives, user-friendly downloads and expanded contractor/specifier areas. “We have designed the website to provide homeowners and professionals with all the information they need to make informed decisions on our products” says Chilcoff

Adding a new dimension to the site is the “Project Showcase” page. Most sites rely on professionally produced images but FiberTech feels that “real world” images are more important to the consumer. “We are really excited about the impact this [Project Showcase] page and downloads can have on a contractor/homeowners decision-making process” says Chilcoff. Monthly updates are planned for this area.

The professional fencing network is invited to view/download sell sheets, installation instructions and guide specifications relating to the TimberWolf fence product. “These pages provide the necessary on-demand resources needed to properly sell and install our professional fence products” remarks Chilcoff. A further expansion of these working areas is planned for the fall.
